

Zakharkin, O.O., Basantsov, I.V., Myroshnychenko, I.O., Shcherbachenko, V.O.

Analysis of the innovative development directions for industrial enterprises

The aim of the article is to analyse the innovative development directions for industrial enterprises. Innovative development is considered as a driver of national security. Authors make the comparison of innovative development vectors of industrial enterprises in Ukraine and in the world. Analysis of the impact of environmental factors on the innovative activity of enterprises is conducted by authors. The structure-forming and priority sectoral development vector are defined. The instruments of stimulation and state support of innovative activity are suggested.

Keywords: Innovative development, economic security, production